PANDEMIC IMPACTING LOCAL HOLIDAY EVENTS

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The coronavirus pandemic is impacting holiday celebrations across the country, and Hancock County is no exception.

Although the Waveland Christmas Festival drew hundreds to MLK park on Herlihy Street on Sunday, "Due to the increased Covid numbers, Food Truck Friday scheduled for this Friday, Dec. 11 and the annual Christmas Parade set for Saturday, Dec. 12 have both been canceled," Mayor Mike Smith said on social media Monday. "We apologize if this caused any inconvenience."

However, there are still quite a few events on the Hancock holiday schedule.

This Saturday, Dec. 12, the annual Kiln Fire Truck Parade is scheduled to begin at noon at Bobinger Rd., wind-DeSalvo, a first-time canine handler.

DeSalvo said he applied for the handler position due to his love for dogs.

"I always said that if I ever became a police officer, I want to be a canine officer," DeSalvo said. "It's something I've always wanted to do."

Mako lives with the DeSalvo family and took to the family "really well."

Mako lives with the DeSalvo family and took to the family “really well.”

When it’s time to go to work, Mako is right there with DeSalvo.

“He follows me everywhere,” he said.

In January, DeSalvo and Mako will attend a five-week training course at U.S. Canine.

DeSalvo said Mako will be trained to sniff out narcotics; tracking, which can help lead to the apprehension of a suspect or a missing person; and bite work.

Bite work is not used all the time, DeSalvo said. If the officer has to utilize Mako, DeSalvo said, it would be during a situation where someone won’t give up.

DeSalvo said the addition of Mako is an asset to the police department.

“It helps a lot,” he said. “If there’s a burglary in progress, it’s nice to have partners with you. But when you have a dog, he knows if someone is in the house and can take you right there to the person.”

Both Prendergast and DeSalvo said they are eager to also utilize Mako and make visits to local schools and talk to students about Mako’s role as a police dog.

“Mako is a really good public dog,” DeSalvo said. “But he gets in gear when it’s time to go to work.”

Prendergast also announced that the department recently hired three new officers, Josh Stockstill, Daniel Moritz, and Scott Treadway.

He added that there is a total of 18 years’ combined law enforcement experience between the three and all are certified.

“We’re very fortunate to get them,” he said.

Prendergast said that the numbers of officers at police departments throughout the country are currently low.

“Some places are down to 10 to 15 people,” he said. “We were down three for about four to five months.”

Prendergast said the department reached out to potential recruits on Facebook and visited Camp Shelby to interview potential officers and pass out applications.

WAVELAND AWARDS BID FOR HURRICANE ZETA DEBRIS PICKUP

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Last week, the city of Waveland awarded the bid for Hurricane Zeta debris removal to Kansas-based Custom Tree Care, Inc. for $7.93 cubic yard.

While Custom Tree Care, Inc. wasn’t the lowest bid, Waveland City Clerk Mickey Lagasse said that the committee — comprised of Lagasse, city attorney Malcolm Jones, and city purchasing clerk Katharine Corr — determined it to be “lowest, best, and most responsive bid.”

The city received 10 other bids: • Greenco Services, LLC for $7.35 per cubic yard

• Necaise Bros. Construction Co., Inc. for $8.40 per cubic yard

• Ash Britt Environmental for $9.50 per cubic yard

• Holliday Construction, LLC for $9.90 cubic yard

• Southern Disaster for $10.95 per cubic yard

• Looks Great Services for $11 per cubic yard

• Spenser Disaster Relief, LLC, for $11.50 cubic yard

• KDF Enterprise, LLC, for $13.75 per cubic yard (Tip Fee: $5 per yard)

• Andercorp for $15 per cubic yard

Lagasse said the city estimates that there are about 125,000 to 150,000 cubic yards of storm debris to be removed.

The board named TetraTech as the “best, most responsive, and most qualified” quote for debris monitoring service, which bills the city on an hourly basis depending on how many trucks are sent out, Lagasse said.

The board also approved the notice to proceed for both actions — pending attorney review.

Crews are now out picking up debris throughout the city. Lagasse added that the companies are willing to work on the weekends.

MSDH reports 1,732 new COVID-19 cases, 56 deaths

DOBBS SAYS HOME ISOLATION ‘MANDATORY’ IF YOU HAVE TESTED POSITIVE

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) on Tuesday reported 1,732 new cases of COVID-19 in the state and 56 deaths, including two deaths in Hancock County. Forty-two of those deaths occurred between Nov. 24 and Dec. 7, and 14 occurred between Nov. 8 and Dec. 2, and were identified from death certificate reports.

“Mississippi’s total of COVID-19 cases for the year now stands at 167,926, with 4,017 deaths,” according to the agency’s statement on Tuesday. “Among cases and deaths already reported, MSDH has identified 35 new cases in residents of long-term care facilities, and 13 deaths. There are currently 206 ongoing outbreaks of COVID-19 in long-term care facilities.”

“Due to rapidly rising COVID-19 cases, all residents of Mississippi should avoid any social gathering that includes individuals outside of the immediate family or household,” according to an advisory issued this week by state Health Officer Dr. Thomas Dobbs. “MSDH recommends that Mississippians only participate in work, school or other absolutely essential activities, and avoid gatherings such as social events, sporting events, in-person church services, and weddings and funerals unless they involve only close family (preferably outdoors).”

In addition, Dobbs said, “Home isolation is mandatory if you have tested positive for COVID-19. If you are awaiting results of routine testing not related to exposure, you may return to work and follow the safety guidance of your employer.”

Hospitalizations numbers continue to rise throughout the state.

Dobbs also said “Quarantine is mandatory for household members of someone who has COVID-19. Home quarantine permits working under certain circumstances.

Dobbs’ advisory comes after a week of rising COVID numbers.

MSDH reported 1,263 new cases and zero new deaths on Monday morning; and 1,473 new cases of the coronavirus on Sunday morning, with 12 deaths, including eight that occurred between Nov. 25 and Dec. 4 and four that occurred between Nov. 24-29, and were identified from death certificates.

On Saturday morning, MSDH reported 1,942 new cases and 33 new deaths, including 24 between Nov. 28 and Dec. 4 and nine between Oct. 22 and Nov. 25, all identified from death certificate reports.

As of Tuesday morning, Hancock County had a total of 1,388 cases of coronavirus — up by 23 from Monday — with 45 deaths, including 68 cases and 12 deaths in long-term care facilities. MSDH reported 18 new cases in Hancock County on Monday, six on Sunday 13 new cases on Saturday.

Also as of Tuesday, Harrison County had 8,039 cases — up by 154 from Monday — with 117 deaths, including 391 cases and 38 deaths in long-term care. The number of cases had already jumped by 110 from Sunday to Monday.

Pearl River County had 1,746 total cases with 72 deaths as of Tuesday, including 119 cases and 25 deaths in long-term care.

As of Dec. 7, the MSDH reported that 1,125 Mississippians were hospitalized with confirmed infection, up from 1,051 the previous day; 288 patients were in ICU; 97 patients were hospitalized with suspected infection; and 168 patients were on ventilators.

Also as of Dec. 6, the MSDH estimates that 136,627 Mississippi residents who had tested positive for COVID-19 are presumed recovered.

“Anyone with symptoms of fever, severe cough or severe chest pains — especially those who are older or in poor health — should make arrangements for testing with their doctor or one of the many healthcare providers now performing testing,” according to MSDH. “Healthcare providers can assess your health history and symptoms, and perform testing for COVID-19 as needed. MSDH is also helping conduct free drive-up testing sites in many parts of the state. Always call ahead to the testing provider for instructions on safely being examined before you visit for your test.”

Help NHTSA and the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office Spread the Cheer and the Message: Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over

SEA COAST ECHO

The holiday season is a time of gathering for families and friends. Unfortunately, it can be a deadly time for Americans traveling the roads to festivities or vacations, as many will make the tragic decision to drink and drive. In December 2018, 839 people lost their lives to traffic crashes involving a drunk driver. This means that 839 families had to begin the new year with heartache and sorrow over the loss of their loved one to a senseless death.

To help keep people safe on the streets and put an end to drunk driving, the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office will be out in full force in support of the 2020 holiday season Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over campaign. Between December 18, 2020, and January 1, 2021, law enforcement officers nationwide will team up with the U.S. Department of Transportation’s National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to participate in high-visibility enforcement, pulling over and arresting drunk drivers.

The numbers are shocking: In 2018, one person died every 50 minutes in a drunk-driving crash in America. These deaths account for approximately one-third of all traffic deaths each year, with 10,511 deaths occurring in 2018, alone. Even though drunk driving is illegal nationally, the numbers remain similar year after year.

During the Christmas and New Year’s Day holiday periods in 2018 alone, we saw more drunk-driving-related fatalities (285) than during any other holiday period that year. These fatalities are preventable, and drivers must remember that driving impaired by any substance — drugs or alcohol — is deadly, illegal, and selfish behavior.

The decision to not drink and drive should never be a tough one. Drunk driving is illegal and can be deadly — to the driver, to his or her passengers, and to other road users. The Hancock County Sheriff’s Office will be out on high alert, seeking out drunk drivers during the holiday period, showing zero tolerance for anyone driving drunk. Drunk drivers will be arrested — no excuses. “We want to spread the message you will not get away with drinking and driving in Hancock County”, Sheriff Ricky Adam said. “We have dedicated DUI Officers who work alongside the rest of their shift as a team to identify and pull over impaired drivers. In fact, all law enforcement agencies in Hancock County work together to keep impaired drivers off the road. People need to remember that alcohol consumption lowers

The real St. Nick

I don't think Krampus gets nearly enough attention this time of year.

It's probably because he is the mythical figure who holds people accountable for being naughty.

According to history.com, Krampus — derived from Austria's Alpine region — is "the half-man, half-goat who comes around every year to chase naughty children and maybe even drag to them to hell."

Krampus' has its origins in pagan celebrations of the winter solstice, the website states.

"Later, they became part of Christian traditions in which St. Nicholas visited children to reward them on Dec. 5 or 6," according to the website. "Around that time, his menacing partner would also visit kids to punish them. In Alpine Austria and some parts of Germany, this day was known as Krampusnacht or Krampus night, when adults might dress up as Krampus to frighten children at their homes."

Now I'm sure you all know his jolly counterpart, Santa Claus, the guy that sneaks into people's homes once a year and delivers tons of presents to each little good girl and boy.

However, there was a real St. Nicholas.

According to history.com, the legend of Santa Claus can be traced to a monk named St. Nicholas, who is believed to have been born around 280 A.D. in Patara, near Myra in modern-day Turkey.

"Much admired for his piety and kindness, St. Nicholas became the subject of many legends," the website states. "It is said that he gave away all of his inherited wealth and traveled the countryside helping the poor and sick. One of the best-known St. Nicholas stories is the time he saved three poor sisters from being sold into slavery or prostitution by their father by providing them with a dowry so that they could be married."

St. Nicholas also became known as the protector of children and sailors and his feast day is celebrated on the anniversary of his death, Dec. 6.

Near the end of the 18th century, History.com states, St. Nicholas made his way into American popular culture after a New York newspaper reported on Dutch families gathered to honor the anniversary of St. Nicholas' death.

The name Santa Claus is taken from the St. Nicholas' Dutch nickname, Sinter Klaas, a shortened form of Sint Nikolaas (Dutch for St. Nicholas), the website states.

"In 1804, John Pintard, a member of the New York Historical Society, distributed woodcuts of St. Nicholas."

Wicker Reflects on Accomplishments of 116th Congress

Lawmakers Passed Coronavirus Relief, Military Funding, and Broadband Measures

This year has brought challenges that few could have imagined. The coronavirus pandemic has upended daily routines and claimed more than 275,000 American lives. Last month, however, we received some positive news with the announcement that several vaccines are effective and safe for use. With vaccine distribution beginning later this month, Americans can take heart that this dark season may soon be behind us.

The coronavirus has consumed much of Congress's attention this year. As we enter the final weeks of the 116th Congress, it is worth reflecting on the major actions Congress has taken both before and during the pandemic.

WICKER CHAIRS COMMERCE COMMITTEE

Two years ago, I became chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee. This committee oversees a range of issues affecting our economy, including the internet, broadband, transportation, oceans, space, and the Coast Guard. Since I became chairman, the committee has passed nearly 20 bills that have become law, and dozens more are nearing completion. We have also helped shape many laws written by the House.

One of our major achievements was the Broadband DATA Act, a law I authored to make sure broadband is deployed in unserved rural communities. We also crafted a law to protect U.S. telecommunications networks from Chinese espionage. We approved a law ratifying the U.S.-Mexico-Canada Trade Agreement, a pivotal treaty that will help protect American jobs. And we have led the way in fighting online censorship and bias. I convened the CEOs of Facebook, Twitter, and Google for a hearing on this issue and have introduced legislation to encourage the protection of free speech online.

Another proud moment this Congress was getting Medgar and Myrlie Evers's home in Jackson established as a National Monument. I am glad his brother Charles lived to see this important recognition take place before his passing a few months ago.

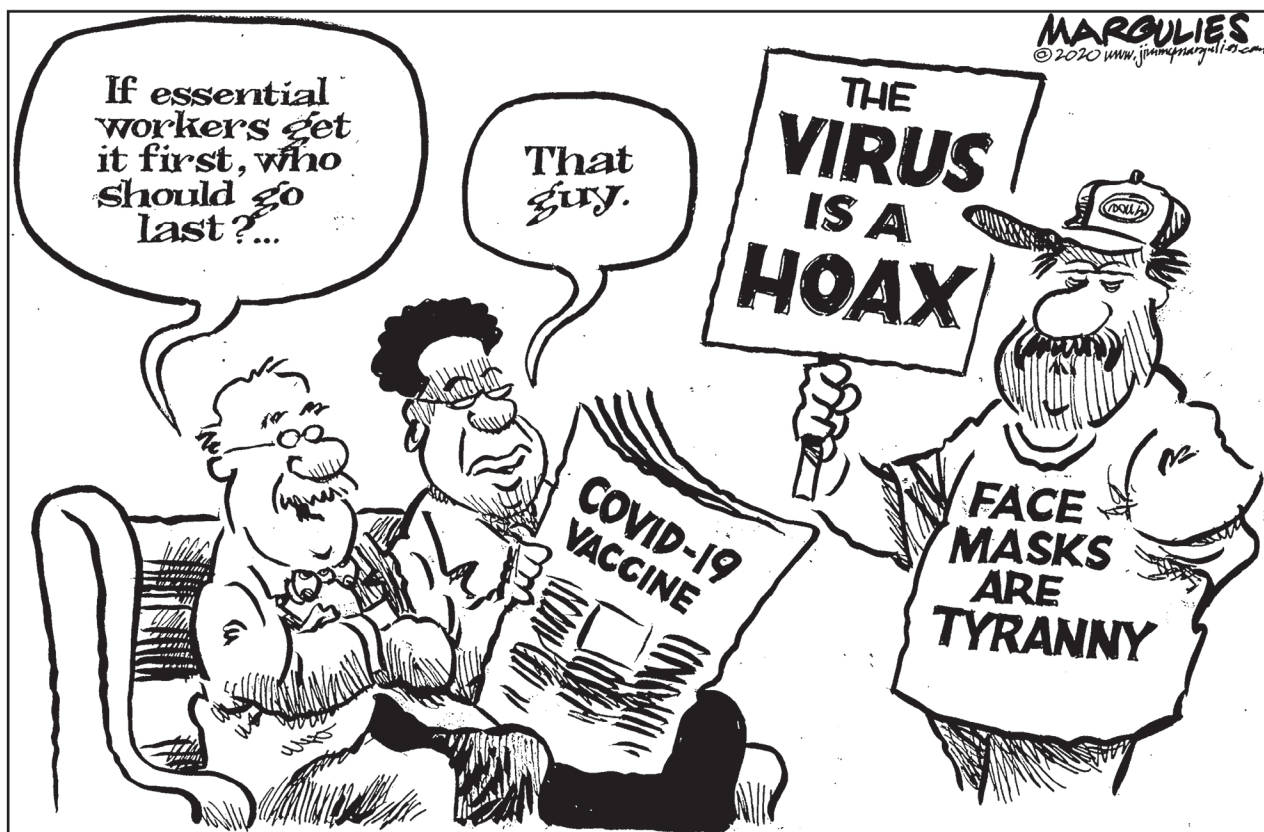

COVID-19 LEGISLATION

LEADS TO VACCINES

Soon after the pandemic began, Congress passed the CARES Act to provide relief for families, workers, and businesses across America. This included relief checks for individuals and forgivable loans for small businesses. I helped write a section of the law that gave a critical lifeline to airlines and airports, which are vital in connecting our economy. I also worked to include a provision expanding telehealth services for Medicare patients, and I supported investing billions in vaccine research and development. Because of this crucial investment, Operation Warp Speed is developing vaccines at a record pace for distribution to the public soon.

Proper Disposal of Deer Carcass

With the passing of each year, there appears to be an increasing number of deer carcasses appearing on roadsides and in streams or rivers. These dumping practices are not only illegal, but unsightly and unhealthy.

I am an avid hunter and spend most of my working days trying to further the sport of hunting and the conservation of the natural resources of our state and our nation. But not everyone feels like I do. Some spend as much, or more, time trying to outlaw hunting as I do trying to further it. While I totally disagree with those in our society with such beliefs, we as a group of hunters, should not do things to further the cause of the anti-hunting public, or give those that are indifferent about hunting, a reason to oppose it. In other words, we should not spread the byproduct, or the car-

Conservation Corner

By James L. Cummins

cass, of a successful hunt in areas where other people have to view it or in areas that could cause a public health issue.

There is already a law prohibiting such activity. Section 97-15-29 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 prohibits the dumping of dead fish and wildlife, their parts, or waste on Mississippi's roadways or their right-of-ways or on private property without the landowner's consent. If caught, an offender can be charged with a misdemeanor and fined up to $250.00.

Dead deer on the side of the road can be a hazard to drivers. In some instances, they could cause some serious damage to a car, or injury to the driver. This dumping is happening when no one is around, therefore making it very hard to catch the culprits.

Deer carcasses dumped in streams and rivers can pose a human health risk. This risk comes from the drinking and/or swimming in waters contaminated by decomposing deer carcasses.

Roadsides, streams, and rivers are not options. Two recommended methods of disposal are digging a pit in which to place the carcass or taking it to a deer processor who will properly dispose of or compost it. This is legal and respectful to the sport.

And if you can't do that, place the carcass in an area where it cannot be viewed and it is not near any homes. It won't take long for the coyotes and buzzards to salvage the rest of it.

Anyone who finds a deer carcass on his property is obligated to clean it up and report it to law enforcement agencies. Please take time for appropriate carcass disposal. To report a violation, call your local sheriff's office or the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries, and Parks at 1-800-BE-SMART (1.800.237.6278).

James L. Cummins is executive director of Wildlife Mississippi, a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and plant resources throughout Mississippi. Their website is www.wildlifemiss.org.

las at the society’s annual meeting,” the website states. “The background of the engraving contains now-familiar Santa images including stockings filled with toys and fruit hung over a fireplace.”
In 1820, stores began to advertise for Christmas shopping and in the 1840s, newspapers were creating separate sections for holiday advertisements, which often featured images of Santa Claus, the website states. In 1841, a shop in Philadelphia displayed a life-size Santa Claus to attract children. And in the 1890s, the Salvation Army, looking to raise money to provide free Christmas meals to needy families, began dressing up unemployed men in Santa Claus suits and posting them in the streets of New York to solicit donations.
Since 1924, Santa has appeared in nearly every Macy’s Thanksgiving Day Parade.
In 1822, the Episcopal minister Clement Clarke Moore wrote the poem, “An Account of a Visit from St. Nicholas,” or as it is more widely known, “Twas the Night Before Christmas.”
According to History.com, Moore was “initially hesitant to publish due to the frivolous nature of its subject,” and the poem is “largely responsible for our modern image of Santa Claus as ‘right jolly old elf’ with a portly figure and the supernatural abilities to ascend a chimney with a mere nod of his head. His poem helped popularize the now-familiar image of a Santa Claus who fell from house to house on Christmas Eve in ‘a miniature sleigh’ led by eight flying reindeer to leave presents for deserving children.”

In the United States, History.com states, Santa is depicted as flying on his magic sleigh led by his reindeer. Santa and his wife live at the North Pole and children can write letters to Santa and also track his progress around the world on Christmas Eve. It is said that Santa keeps a “naughty” and “nice” list and children can leave cookies and milk for Santa on Christmas Eve.
“Parents often invoke these lists as a way to ensure their children are on their best behavior,” the website states.
After reading about St. Nicholas, I think I prefer the image of a man who saved three sisters from being sold into slavery or prostitution better than I like the image of our modern day Santa Claus who brings toys.
I’ve heard it’s magical for parents to have the idea of Santa Claus around during this time of year.
I’ve even seen parents practically threaten other parents on social media if their children dare tell their children that the man who travels the whole world in one night delivering presents, in fact, does not exist.
What really ticks me off about that is not so much about Santa Claus, but it’s the fact that parents would possibly get mad at another child or someone else for telling the truth. Plus, there are people who don’t celebrate Christmas for whatever reason, so of course, their children are probably not as familiar with the jolly old man.
I don’t even remember if or when I believed in Santa Claus.
He has also become so ingrained in our Christmas traditions that I don’t think it will ever change. Not that I’m saying it has to, either.

But, when I think about the children whose parents barely have funds to pay their bills or the children in foster care settings, I feel a bit of sadness. And Santa is supposed to invoke feelings of joy, right?
Some children don’t receive the high-dollar items from Santa Claus. And sometimes I wonder if they feel like they are less than or haven’t been good enough.
And speaking of those “naughty” and “nice” lists, do they really work? How about that “Santa Cam” or the Elf on the Shelf? In essence, people are telling their children that someone is spying on them to report back to Santa. And yet some people are afraid of “Big Brother,” but not opposed to bringing the festive “spying” tools into their home.

Does it work? Threatening children with the possibility of not receiving any toys when parents know good and well those toys are already wrapped and hidden somewhere in the house? I wonder if anyone has ever followed through with this threat? Where is the lesson to be learned if there’s no follow-through?
There are numerous community organizations that break their backs to ensure that less fortunate children receive presents under the Christmas tree. In some instances, they also provide Christmas meals and other basic necessities to needy families.
To me, that’s the real magic of Christmas we should be perpetuating, the kind that the original St. Nicholas did.
It would be even more magical if children were raised to know that hard work and a parent’s love — and in some cases the love from a stranger — made it possible for them to have the things they have.

You know what else is magical? Being a good human being for the sake of being a good human being. I mean, if we have to be good just because there is some fancy reward, then it kind of falls flat for me.
I understand wanting to shield children from the realities of the world for as long as possible, but how does that help them grow into functioning adults? I mean, if the year 2020 has shown me anything, it’s that the majority of people seem to be spoiled, selfish, brats. The kind that would end up on Krampus’ list.
I watched the making of the movie “Home Alone,” recently and I’m once again reminded of how much I love that film.
Kevin’s family unknowingly leaves him home alone and he is left to defend his home against two burglars.

In the end, it’s not the presents or Santa Claus, that is touted as the magic of Christmas but it’s family and friends.
Kevin’s neighbor, Marley, helps him out during his time of crisis, as well.
The young Kevin realizes how much he loves his family during the course of this film, but he also learns how to fend for himself. Yes, while I realize it’s an extreme example, the point is still the same.
George Bailey in “It’s a Wonderful Life,” also realizes just how good his life is when he views what the world would have looked like without him in it.
“Strange, isn’t?” Clarence the angel tells George. “Each man’s life touches so many other lives. And when he isn’t around, he leaves an awful hole, doesn’t he?”
This year, Christmas will look a lot different for some families for a variety of reasons. Some are struggling to keep roofs over their heads, food on the table, and find gainful employment again. You know those basic human needs. Some are even cancelling yearly visits so that they won’t potentially infect their older or immunocomprised family members.

And some people are more worried about someone telling their child that Santa Claus doesn’t exist.
If I had children of my own, I would still feel the same way about this time of year and Santa Claus.
Perhaps we should start telling the children about St. Nicholas, the man who performed kind deeds for people. Teach them about the value of hard work and how you can use that tool to purchase your basic human needs and other items that you like or pay it forward and helps others.

And also teach them about knowing the difference between “fact” and “fiction,” a trait that is severely lacking these days.
In one scene in “Home Alone,” Kevin visits a Santa Claus and he says, “Would you please tell him (the ‘real’ Santa) that instead of presents this year, I just want my family back.”
And I’m sure some of the thousands of people who lost loved ones to either Covid-19 or any other illness this year also feel that one more moment with their family member or dear friend would be more valuable than the most expensive store-bought present.

TO HAVE THE OPTIMISM OF A YOUNG CHILD

By GARY ANDREWS

Reading a devotional this week called “A Well of Optimism” by Max Lucado reminded me of when my children were young and how vibrant they were. Lucado talked about putting his children to bed one night and the five-year-old was so full of energy that she couldn’t go to sleep. Lucado talked about the attitude of a five-year-old that had a simple uncluttered passion for living. His daughter looked at him and stated, “I can’t wait until I wake up.” What optimism this young child had on finding it hard to wait for tomorrow.

My children were the same way when my wife and I would put them to bed in their younger days. They were so full of vim and vigor that today only seemed to be a stepping stone of how good tomorrow was going to be.

Lucado calls this philosophy of life “Play hard, laugh hard, and leave the worries to your father.” These children exuded a bottomless well of optimism flooded by a perpetual spring of faith.

So it is with us today. We need to remember our childhood days because they were probably the same as our children’s. We couldn’t wait until tomorrow because today brought us so much joy. Some days are not going to always be pleasant. In fact, some are going to be downright mean and pump us full of anxiety, unless we turn our troubles over to our heavenly father and allow Him to take care of us.

Always remember that if God brings us to it, He will always see us through it. Our problems always seem larger than they really are. We should always remember that we are a child of God and if we will turn our problems over to Him we would be much less anxious during our short time on earth.

Jesus tells us in Matthew 18:3 “I tell you the truth, unless you change and become like little children, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven.”

How is your optimism level? Do you turn your troubles over to your Heavenly Father and seek His wisdom and strength to face tomorrow?

Do you have the heart of a child so that you can enter the kingdom of heaven?

Prayer: “Father, thank you for loving me and taking care of me. I thank you for allowing me to give you my burdens and giving me a brighter tomorrow. Amen.”

drink, plan ahead for a sober ride home. Even one drink is one too many if you are driving. Remember these tips for a safe night on the roads:

- Remember it is never okay to drink and drive. Even if you’ve had only one alcoholic beverage, designate a sober driver or plan to use public transportation or a ride service to get home safely.
- Call a local taxi service

- If you see a drunk driver on the road, contact Hancock County Central Dispatch at (228) 255-9191
- Do you have a friend who is about to drive after drinking? Take the keys away and make arrangements to get your friend home safely.

Ultimately, drunk driving is 100-percent preventable. Don’t make the choice to put yourself and others at risk.

If you could see me now, you wouldn't shed a tear. Though you may not understand why I'm no longer here. Remember my spirit, that's the real me. I'm still very much alive, oh, if you could only see! I've beheld our Father's face. I've touched my Savior's hand. The angels all rejoiced as I entered the Promised Land. Beyond the gates of pearl, I walk on golden streets. I've touched the walls of jasper, dipped my foot in the crystal sea. The beauty is beyond words, nothing can compare. I've even seen your mansion; someday I will meet you there. Allow Jesus to be your guide, His word will show you the way. So, please, don't cry! We will meet again someday!

SMPDD offers workforce development program for those ages 18-59

SEA COAST ECHO

Career STEP is a workforce development program that covers the cost of short-term training for eligible participants, ages 18-59. The program is funded through the TANF workforce program from the Mississippi Department of Human Services. Books, fees, the cost of tuition, and any certifications/licenses needed in order for a participant to go to work are available at no cost to the participant. Participants are connected with a local community college where they are able to pursue short-term training to take the first step towards a career. Once program eligibility has been determined, some of the programs of study available to Career STEP participants are CNA, EMT, CDL and Pharmacy Tech, but there are many more. Paid internships are also available for many of the programs of study. Participants can be connected with childcare assistance if needed.

Training is not all that is offered through the Career STEP program. Participants can also receive assistance with resume building, job search endeavors, career counseling, assessments, NCRC testing, workforce preparation skills and finding sector-based employment. These services are available even if a participant does not attend short-term training.

Eva Ward and Rebekah Woodcock are the first points of contact for any potential participant. They can be reached at 1-800-444-8014.

In 2017, lawmakers recognized the need for a bigger Navy by passing my SHIPS Act, which requires the Navy to have 355 ships as soon as possible. The current Congress has made progress toward that goal by authorizing the construction of 13 new ships in 2020 and seven additional ships in pending legislation. Several of these vessels will be built by our expert shipbuilders in Mississippi.

One of the most important legacies of this Congress will be a strengthened judiciary. The Senate has confirmed 144 judges in the last two years and nearly 230 judges since President Trump took office. These include three Supreme Court justices and three judges from Mississippi. Because of the Senate’s work, more than one-quarter of all federal judges serving lifetime terms are Trump appointees. These conservative judges will help preserve our constitutional freedoms and the rule of law for decades to come.

Tigers split with Hurricanes, Pirates split with Warriors

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The high school basketball season kicked back into gear following the Thanksgiving break and is now sprinting toward the next holiday.

BAY HIGH TIGERS

The Bay High Tigers split a pair of games with the West Harrison Hurricanes on Friday.

In the girls game, the Lady Tigers (3-5) beat West Harrison 55-14.

Bay High head coach Kelton Thompson stated, "I thought we did a much better job of competing tonight. We had more energy and were in better spots on both ends of the floor. We are still trying to find our identity but the focus always remains with us putting the best version on Bay High Lady Tiger basketball on the court."

Bay High took a 15-5 first period lead as Katelyn McClain hit three three-pointers.

Bay High enjoyed a 36-8 halftime advantage before cruising in the second half.

McClain led the Lady Tigers with 19 points followed by McKenzie Favre with 13 points.

In the boys game, the Tigers fell 54-17 to West Harrison. The Tigers scored only two field goals in the second half. Avan Wilson led Bay High with seven points.

HANCOCK HAWKS

In recent action last, the Hancock Hawks beat Stone 44-35 on December 1, but lost to Brandon 64-40 on December 4 and Pearl 73-67 on December 5.

The Lady Hawks beat Brandon 46-41, beat Stone 52-37 and beat Pearl 60-40.

PASS CHRISTIAN PIRATES

The Pass Christian Pirates were swept by d'Iberville on Friday night.

The Lady Pirates beat the Lady Warriors 38-26 on Friday night. Pass Christian head coach Greta Ainsworth stated, "Very strong coached team that we played tonight and the girls came out with a lot of fire inside and out. The girls played with a lot of intensity, strong, and very defensive. Shaunacey (Valdez) came out early and hit a few three point baskets, really helping our confidence. We have been struggling shooting from the outside, so knocking a few of those down was really huge for us."

The Lady Pirates enjoyed a 20-14 advantage at halftime with Valdez leading the way in the game for Pass Christian with 15 points.

In the boys game, the Pirates (6-3) were up-ended 53-27. Pass Christian was not able to find a groove in the game struggling with turnovers, missed shot opportunities and shot less than 50% at the line for the game.

Pass Christian head coach Buddy Kennedy commented, "I am hoping this was a fluke game because we have played much better up to this point. We had way too many turnovers especially in the first period and shot less than 50% at the line for the game. We work on that every day.

We were not competitive tonight."

The Warriors got up 11-3 in the first period and extended their lead to 30-14 at halftime.

Kameron White led Pass Christian with nine points.

SAINT STANISLAUS ROCK-A-CHAWS

The Rocks (0-8) are still searching for that elusive first win after falling to Long Beach 71-62 on December 1.

SSC head coach Aaron Dunklin commented, "We gave very good effort tonight and real consistent energy. We need to place emphasis on alignment and assignment and start playing smarter."

The Rocks led 16-15 after the first period but fell behind 36-30 at halftime.

In the second half, the Rocks cut the lead to four points twice but could not get any closer.

Nour Tayara led SSC with 21 points followed by Ja'Kobe Cameron and Byron Krohn with 14 points each and Leo Seal had 10 points.

A spa day on the water

My buddy Joe books several trips every year. He normally brings his family and or his friends from work or school. This last trip was a birthday present for his wife, Juanita. Honestly, she was less than thrilled getting into the boat. It was cold and way to early for her liking. "He's the one that loves to fish, what the heck are we doing out here"?...

Joining "Nita" were her two sisters, Tallulah and Elizabeth, along with her buddy, my wife Stephanie. They understood what the gift was. These days it's hard to hit the town, in large groups. He wanted the gals to spend the day together, and have some fun.

Shore Thing Fishing Report

By Cpt. Sonny Schindler

In our first two stops we caught 1 baby speckled trout. However, the birthday party got wild at the third stop. We landed on a school of perfect sized slot reds and puppy drum. We could barely get three lines in the water. The live shrimp were getting annihilated seconds after they hit the water. Stephanie didn't even really fish, she just helped net their fish, and snap pictures. Things got loud, very very loud. Nita and the girls were screaming and yelling, trying to keep all the lines from getting tangled. Capt Kenny Shiyou and Capt Paul Leoni knew exactly what the noise was. They quietly put their boats right next to ours. Instantly, it became a 3 boat Birthday Fish Bonanza.

The ladies had filled the fish box quickly, and we eased our way back to the dock. As we were pulling away, the other 2 boats were all double and triple hooked up. Juanita smiled and jokingly said, "this was really fun, I'm so glad my husband set this up, I'm gonna have to send him on a Spa Day for his next Birthday"...

“I want to say two quick things,” she said. “Number one, we need the leaders in this state to stand behind our guidelines and stand with us in saving lives. The second thing is that everyone in the public should, if you have someone that gets sick, you may or may not have hospital space here. It does not look good at this time. With rising cases and increasing hospitalizations, we are looking at a big mess to put it in laymen’s terms.”

Dobbs said that now is the time for a “good hard reevaluation.”

On Tuesday, the state reported a “record” number of hospitalizations for people diagnosed with COVID-19, Dobbs said, “145, which is higher than any time throughout the summer.”

“The trend is starting to increase,” he said. “We know that there is a lot of pressure that’s going to be hitting us because of the Thanksgiving holidays.”

Dobbs said that there are currently 13 major medical centers with zero ICU beds and 20 other hospitals that have ten percent or less of ICU beds available.

“This is a really frightening shortage,” he said. “And if we look at the trend, it’s continuing to worsen.”

For these reasons, Dobbs said, the MSDH released public health guidelines on Wednesday, “urging every Mississippi resident that they should avoid any social gathering that include individuals outside of the nuclear family or household.”

“MSDH recommends that Mississippians only participate in work, school, or other absolutely essential activities,” Dobbs said. “We recommend that Mississippians protect themselves and avoid public or social gatherings such as the following: All social events or parties; family gatherings outside of the household or nuclear family; weddings; funerals other than close family and preferably outdoors; all sporting events; and in person church services. We have seen numerous outbreaks linked to the these events. We’ve seen these outbreak events lead to outbreaks within longterm care settings and nursing homes. And we have seen people who went to funerals last week and who are on ventilators today and are likely to die. These are very serious concerns that we have and as we see more deaths, there are going to be more funerals and more opportunities for outbreaks at funerals. I urge you to be thoughtful about this — funerals are especially high risk endeavors because people invariably are going to hug, touch, they’re going to cry, they’re going to share their condolences and we have to remember that many if not most, at least 50 percent of transmissions, are occurring from people who are asymptomatic and don’t know that they have it. And you wouldn’t know. That’s why it’s important to avoid all social gatherings and assume that anyone with whom we come in contact is going to be contagious.”

Byers added that the state has now “exceeded” what officials believed Mississippi’s peak was during the summer.

He said that more community transmission is having more of an impact on adults 65 and older and the state is seeing additional deaths.

Byers said that although the state hasn’t reached the spike in death from the summer months, the state is starting to see an increase.”

Byers said that by and large, the age group most impacted by the deaths is individuals over the age of 65.

“But it’s important to understand that even in the younger group, in folks in their 20s, folks in their teens, and individuals in their 30s, we have seen a number of deaths occurred. Often times these are individuals who have not had pre-existing health problems that would have identified them as at-risk. Now is the time for us to really decide what is essential for us, what are the most essential activities that we need to be doing and how we can impact and start to bring this curve down.”

Dobbs said that the state’s daily case rates are “way higher” than the summer and the hospitalizations are going at a rate that is “absolutely terrifying.”

“It’s not going to end at least for weeks, if we did everything perfect today, it’s going to be a week or two before we even see an impact from that because we’re still going to be processing people that are exposed, who are getting sick and who are dying. Without a doubt, I think we’re headed into the darkest period of the coronavirus for Mississippi.”

Dobbs added that the spread is “preventable in the most simple of ways.”

“We don’t need to be having social events, period, of any kind whatsoever right now,” Dobbs said. “We’re almost to a vaccine that looks very effective and very safe, we’ve just got to just have a little bit of discipline right now or we’re going to see a lot more cases.”

Dobbs said that residents do need to wear a mask

“But to be very clear, if we all wore masks in public right now, it would not be remotely enough,” Dobbs said. “What is driving transmission are people in social settings when they are not going to wear a mask. It’s people at funerals that are hugging people. It’s the social things, it’s the sacred ceremonies that are driving our transmission. The mask part is an important part of it, but they all go together. Each piece is an important component. This is a drama that’s going to play out with a lot of players. We all have a role to play and a lot of us aren’t playing the roles.”

Dobbs said that high-risk older residents are “being more responsible.”

“Because they understand if you’re over 65, the chance of dying after being diagnosed with Coronavirus is 13 percent,” he said. “That’s a real high-risk sort of scenario. What we have not been able to communicate, and it’s part of human nature, is yes, I might in fact survive it, but the person I give it to is not. There has been way too much of a ‘me’ focus than an ‘us’ focus. It’s not going to stop with you, you’re going to give it to somebody else. It might be somebody you don’t know, it might be somebody you love. And that’s the ‘us’ part that we really need to be more thoughtful of.”

Dobbs said that he wouldn’t “recommend shutting down the state.”

“What we’ve learned throughout this is that people can go to work, people can go to class and get an education safely,” Dobbs said. “What I think makes a lot of sense — and some of the executive orders stick to this — is that non-essential social or other type events are wrecking our response, absolutely destroying it. I wouldn’t recommend hurting the economy in that sort of way because it’s not going to be the best bang for our buck. I think people should wear a mask, but I’m actually way more worried about social events, to be quite honest. Where we are in the pandemic right now, just to be very clear, it’s non-essential social activities that are absolutely undermining the health and well being of our state.”

On Monday, Dobbs announced that the FDA will meet Thursday to “review the Pfizer COVID vaccine and full data available for review thereafter.”

Dobbs added that the state is expected to receive 25,000 doses of the vaccine next week for front-line healthcare workers.

Second Saturday

Get Sassy this Second Saturday!

BY CAITLIN BOURGEOIS

The Second Saturday Artwalk — sponsored by the Old Town Bay St. Louis Merchants Assoc. — has grown over the years to become a monthly tourism draw for the entire region.

In light of COVID-19, please be mindful of social distancing and sanitation. Bring a mask this Second Saturday. Some establishments require them.

Old Town stays lively all day, with many merchants and restaurants offering specials. The pace picks up from 4 - 8 p.m., when gallery openings and live music keep the streets humming with activity.

You'll find cool deals, fresh meals, and lots of art and live music.

This month's Second Saturday "Hot Spots" are the Sassy Bird Interiors and 200 North Beach.

SASSY BIRD INTERIORS

You may know them as Sassy Bird, but their brand origin comes from something sweet rather than sassy.

Holly Harrison and Shannon Stage are both powerhouse women who came up with the idea for their interior design store during a lunch meeting a year and a half ago. They are also grandmothers with fun nicknames — "Sassy" for Shannon and "Birdie" for Holly. Sassy Bird Interiors was born.

The two have focused on making Sassy Bird Interiors be a place that homeowners can come to find unique, curated pieces. Nothing is purchased in bulk, meaning each piece is hand selected by Holly and Shannon themselves.

"We make our selections together," said Shannon. "We don't buy anything we don't love.

We know we've hit a home run when we both love it."

Not only do they put in an extraordinary amount of time and work to find these personal pieces but they also offer the ability for clients to place custom orders. From furniture to accessories, even down to the art on the walls, Shannon and Holly can find the perfect piece for a client's home.

For the past 35 years, Holly has worked as registered interior designer professional. She resides in Baton Rouge, with a second home in Florida, but travels a good bit for her thriving business.

"Holly has such a great relationship with the makers and vendors across the country," Shannon noted.

"I love making people happy in their homes. It's a blessing," Holly said. "I think Shannon has that in her, too."

The pair also offer

interior design services. Either Holly or Shannon make in-home visits to discuss options on the best pieces and decor for their client's lifestyle and home.[EA1]

It doesn't stop there.

Shannon Stage is also the owner of Sassy Designs and heads the Sassy Kids cove in The Shops of Century Hall as well.

"Nearly 20 years ago I started a company that creates etiquette goods for children. Sassy Designs creates manners mats, coloring books, and "Teach Me Thank You" notes to help parents and care providers teach the next generation manners and graciousness," explained Shannon. "We also produce guides on table etiquette for adults who need reminders every now and then!"

She stays busy with her business, working part time with a commercial interior design firm in Baton Rouge and writing a Home & Lifestyle column each month in South Mississippi Living.

On the December 12 Second Saturday shoppers can check out all the unique pieces and home accessories that Shannon and Holly have to offer inside The Shops of Century Hall. The duo will be also hosting a food drive for Hancock County Food Bank. Bring a non-perishable item and receive a sticker that Shannon designed.

Steve & Heather Harper will be playing Christmas music from 4 to 6:30 pm on the front porch. Sassy Bird Interiors will be hosting a giveaway with two gift packages - one from Sassy Bird and one from Parachute Leather & Canvas. Guests will need to visit the shop and put their name in for the drawing. You do not have to be present at the time of the drawing to win.

There will be a Flavors of the Holiday tasting from Sassy Bird Interiors as well! Enjoy a taste of their cocktail mixes, divine caramels and delicious coffee. Each item can be purchased at Sassy Bird Interiors - great Christmas gifts!

200 NORTH BEACH

Christmas vibes are in the air and 200 North Beach Restaurant — and its upstairs companion, the BSL Balcony Lounge — wants to amp that up a notch or two.

Both 200 North Beach and the Balcony Lounge are located in one of the coast's historic treasures, built in 1903 as home to one of Mississippi's oldest newspapers, the Sea Coast Echo. Now, the building's getting an addition and a remodeling transformation just in time for the holidays.

The addition will be completed in early 2021 and will offer an outdoor oyster bar and a rooftop bar with a fabulous view.

In the meantime, 200 North Beach has recently opened up a new private party room. Guests pass through ornately-carved wooden doors into a large room with an intimate atmosphere, modern decor and a private balcony. The private room's available now for holiday parties, rehearsal dinners or small events (just call for details and to book).

Of course, the unique historic ambiance of the 200 North Beach building is only one of reasons the restaurant is popular with foodies across the coast. The menu and kitchen are the domain of award-winning Chef Bernard Carmouche. They both reflect the chef's decades of experience in top culinary venues. Darren Thompson serves as sous chef and kitchen manager helping lead the staff to success, night after night.

The support team is equally important to a superb dining experience. Bethany Ladner, General Manager of 200 North Beach[EA2], and Brooke Loftin, Bay Saint Louis Restaurant Group consultant, are a powerhouse duo. From party planning to catering and running a high-volume restaurant, they are the face of 200 North Beach, owned by developer and restaurateur Jim McPhaille.

Visit with 200 North Beach Restaurant and Bar for December's Second Saturday and enjoy live music from Cade Evans and holiday-themed cocktails. You'll be in for a treat with whatever marvelous special Chef Bernard prepares for the night!

Mark your calendars for the Second Annual New Year's Eve Oyster Drop that will be happening live from 200 North Beach's rooftop on January 31st.
